About me

To briefly present myself I should say that I am eager to learn. I constantly challenge myself to acquire new skills and getting out of my comfort zone is a habit.

Over the past years, I have developed a strong interest in latest technologies and digital strategies. I am fascinated of how much they can change the world and it is crucial for me to understand them if I want to be a leader in today's and tomorrow's world.

Today, I am more than ready to take on new challenges and I am open for job opportunities all over Europe where I can enter a steep learning curve and build a positive impact inside and / or outside your company.
